Building for the Ferure

Although the unforgettable memories of 1966 beeken and we may the moment in our reminiscences, our destiny looms hoge and challenged horizon. The year past was unique and can never be duplicated, grow up in, or simply a year in which to be exuberantly young, laughter and learning. The future, we realize, is not built in a day or year. It is strengthened by decades of hopes and dreams: But the day years spent at Fremont High form the foundation of what will eventually tomorrow. In this sense we believe with the Prophet Yesterday is hot policy memory and tomorrow is today's dream."

School is much mode than six file-live munities in the standing in the cafeteria line, walking the halls every desperately to slam a resisting locker shit. Student Libert A question, "May I have the next dance" after sock his whispered prayer at the Thanksgiving assembly. ne is a men, D. Combs, M. Beaudry, and K. Dickinson, relax with broad smiles amidst mounds of clothing at the annual Senior Sale.

The pause that refreshes: Char Crosby gets a quick pick-up before returning to cheer the J.V. squad on to a good season.

A swinging group from Holland, Michigan, called the Sheffields, provides the music for the traditional Christmas dance, "Mistle-toe-a-go-go."

"It won't hurt at all," the nurse promises a courageous S. Heckman at the immunization clinic in the Little Theater.

An over-the-counter trade takes place between P. Johnson and a customer at the Student Council concession stand.

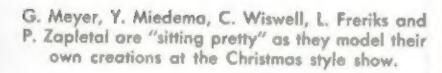

"The Beach Bums," J. Mansfield, B. Bekkering and G. Graeme, go oriental for the Jr-Sr Banquet, "Sayonara."

The end of the game — and congratulations are in order between hard working gridders, W. Jend., M. DeKuiper, and B. Haveman.

Several ironic twists added to the drama of the Senior play, presented in November. In this scene, the characters recoil in shock from the body of a friend. Pictured are, First Row, L. Anderson, K. Johnson, M. MacDonald, J. Masters, J. Evans. Second Row: C. Van-Leeuwen, J. Rynberg, and D. Kage.

Mass confusion and the thrill of picking out class rings are exhibited by these sophomores meeting with the ring company representative.

Coach Morehouse goes over strategy again at half time in the locker room. He obviously put his point across as the Packers, with their famous second half come back, trounced the Reeths-Puffer Rockets and broke the Seaway tie.

M. MacDonald displays a steady hand as Mr. Morehouse, Mrs. Wakefield, R. Roossinck, M. Trimm, J. Kalsbeek, and C. Reber look on, at the Honor Society induction tea.

"I'm sure my office is in here somewhere," observes Mr. Eisner at the climax of Unity Week.

In the few tense minutes before the big game what goes on in a basketball player's mind?

Jeff Suerth meditates.

"If I had a belt." Students ring vigorously for a Packer victory.

"I'll never tell," says K. Nadeau to the inevitable question "Who'd ya vote for?" S. Scott and A. Lummen officiate at the polls.

That elusive ball goes flying over the net as T. Kraai slams it with all his might.

Cheerleader K. DeKuiper creates another masterpiece.

"Dishes, dishes, dishes!" might be the weary thoughts of L. Blurton. Nevertheless, Mrs. Vandenberg's helpers operate at peak efficiency every noon.

"Don't forget to pick up all the paper," admonishes Student Council President J. Hall.

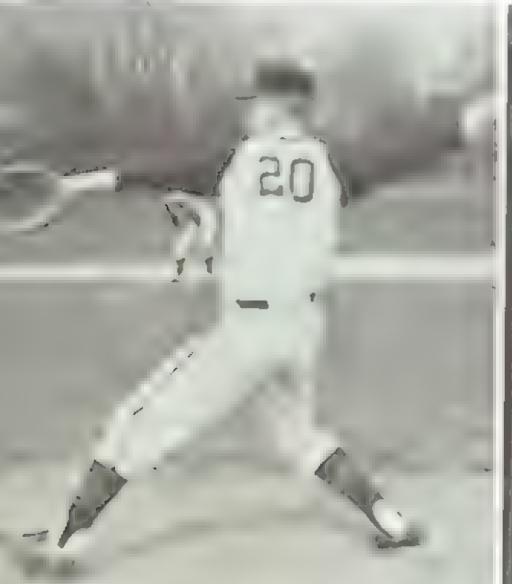

"I want some red roses, Ba Ba Ba Boo!" R Schurkamp, G. Sherman, and R. Shively harmonize beautifully. Why don't you try Broadway boys?

Alan Chrysler winds up for a fast ball .

The new jun or high school stands silent, awaiting its newest occupants who will begin next year. The modern facilities have been put to use this past year as the temporary location for elementary students.

Mrs. Jane Reath, Max Hamilton, and Harry Reber look over the agenda for the next board meeting.

James Bekkering, Ed Essebaggers, and William McKinley focus their attention on a plan of the new elementary school as Max Hamilton shows them where the children's play ground will be located

SCHOOL BOARD DIRECTS EDUCATIONAL EXPANSION

New vistas in education are rapidly being expanded as the Fremont community builds better fac ities for its children. Progress was the key to this year's expansion as the board of education, the superintendent and the people of Fremont all cooperated in building the new junior high school and elementary school. The unior high school was designed to accommodate seven hundred students, and the elementary school contains thirty classrooms.

The value of a good education cannot be underestimated and the Magui Staff would like to join the community in commending the Fremant School Board for its foresight

Keith Stroven and Ed Essebaggers meet with Business Manager Duane VanDuzen to compare records.

Senior Class

Serving as Senior Class officers are Carolyn Freriks, Treasurer; Linda Larson, Secretary; Linnea Anderson, Vice President; and Bill Bekkering, President

Having reached their final year of high school, the Senior Class was kept busy with many exciting activities. Time preparing for graduation was spent with pictures, namecards, caps and gowns, and announcements besides the traditional Homecoming, Senior Sale, and Junior-Senior Banquet. Head spansor for the Seniors was Mrs. Janet Boerman, assisted by Mr. Durkee, Miss Elmquest, Mrs. Irwin, Mr. Adair, Mr. Schray, and Mr. Griffin.

Mrs Boerman and seven Senior girls supervise operations in the Baked Goods Department at the Senior Sale.

L Larson, K Dickinson, and C Vanteeuwen spend a few minutes by their lockers before going to class.

Senior Class History

A senior year is a lot of tradition. Some are the perpetual rituals passed down with little thought from one class to another—the Big Sale. Government Day, name cards, college boards, graduation. Others belong to one class alone

Like memorizing 25 lines for one bonus A; 50 for two,

Like coloring a map, but forgetting all about Lake Albert,

Like play practice, and Mr. McGinnis' speech,

Like suffering the zenith of humiliation — sharing lockers;

Like watching Roger Schurkamp emcee just about everything, Jane Hall run just about everything, and Cindy Reber win just about everything.

Like knowing that 1966 coincides ironically with a champion ship basketball team, wrestling team, and debate team;

Like unique memories of 190 kids that started it all four years ago

They are Freshmen. They number 198. This is the first year they can go to the dances. They will have a class party or two, and a booth at the Festival, so they need leaders. Cindy Reber becomes President; Denise Broome, Vice President; Mike Assante, Secretary, and Willy Anderson, Treasurer. The Student Council wants young, as well as old, representation, so Jane Hall, Diane Powell, Kathle Johnson, Sue Wilson, Andy Anderson, and Bill Bekkering leave early every Wednesday noon. At the Awards Assembly, John Rynberg wins the Math Award, and Dave Guikema the Science Award. Cindy Reber is elected to the Homecoming Court

Now they are Sophamores and have 195 members. This is the year they are eligible for the National Hanor Society and Senior Chair. The rains of responsibility are transferred to Denise Broome, President; Bill Bekkering, Vice President; Linnea Anderson, Secretary; and Linda Taylor, Treasurer. Slawly gaining power and respect in the students' governing body, Sue Willson, Mike De-Kulper, Russ Anderson, Greg Sherman, Cindy Reber, Marcia MacDonald, and Jane Hall let President Pat Stroven know that the tenth grade is there. The Junior Varsity Football team is undefeated; and the Junior Varsity Basketball team loses only one game, to Ludington. As long as George, Mike, and Bill are together, great things are expected in athletics in 1966. John Rynberg is the recipient of the Math Award, Sue Willson of the Science Award. Linnea Anderson is elected to the Homecoming Court, and Mike DeKuiper and Cindy Reber are Mid Winter Festival Prince and Princess.

Composed of 185 students, they have become Juniors. Practicing a female aristocracy, they elect Denise Broome to the class presidency, assisted by Cindy Reber, Vice President; Jane Somers, Secretary; and Sue Stroven, Treasurer. Knowing that some of them may be the officers of next year's Council, Sue Willson (already secretary), Linneo Anderson, Diane Powell, Jane Hall, Ray Durkee, Andy Anderson, Ran Head, and Roger Shively are telected carefully. In late March, "Button Button", directed by Miss Warner, is presented, starring Greg Graeme and Dave Jibson. with Roger Schurkamp, Kim Kendall, Cindy Reber, Denise Broome, Roger Shively, Backy DeKryger, Sue Willson, and Greg Sherman in minor roles. The 1965 Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom is built around a "Sayonara" to the graduating class; haunting melodies of ". . . oh, Seniors, we lave you" are the most lasting memories for both classes concerned. In a hard fought and close election. the USA party captures the Student Council Presidency with Jane Hall and the office of Treasurer with Ron Head. Denise Broome wine the vice presidency on the ticket that puts the students first. John Rynberg holds a monopoly an academic awards at the annual assembly by receiving the Moth, Science, and English Awards. Cindy Reber is elected to the Homecoming Court.

Just eighteen thart of two hundred, they are now among the ranks of those who, according to an illustrious senior, "like feeling tuperior and pushing people around." With the myriod of activities that seem to fall all of a sudden on the Seniors, sameone has to take over and tell people what to do. This is done by Senior Class President, Bill Bekkering: Linnea Anderson, Vice President; Linda Larson, Secretary; and Carolyn Freriks, Treasurer. The affairs of the student body are controlled by the Student Council afficers and the cobinet members, Marcia MacDanald Fi nance; Nancy Howkins, Elections; Diane Powell, Publicity; Andy Anderson, Parliamentarian; Roger Schurkamp, Assemblies, and Ray Durkee, Constitution. Senior Representatives are Kathle Johnson, Lee Deephouse, Jane Somers, Mike DeKuiper, Jim Noble, Mike Grosse, AneMorie Erenbjerg, and Risto Paatela. In the best Homecoming Pageant ever staged at Fremont High School, Linda Larson, Jane Hall, Karin DeKuiper, Linnea Anderson, and Denise Broome smile as Cindy Rober is crowned queen and later reigns over songy festivities. "The Remarkable Incident at Carson Corners", reuniting many of the actors from "Button Button", is directed by Miss Werner, and presented on November 19 and 20. The Pocker Tales, under the editorship of Kim Kendall, and the Mogul, under the clever hand of Linnea Anderson, promises o new peak in literary publication. Class personalities are voted upon and twenty seniors are selected:

MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED: John Rynberg and Jayce Kalsbeek BEST PERSONALITY: Roger Schurkamp and Denise Broome BEST DRESSED: John Monsfield and Kim Kendall CLASS FLIRT AND CASANOVA: Carol Vanteeuwen and Bob Beeler

MOST BASHFUL. Dave Guikema and Florene Guikema CLASS CUT-UPS: Mike Gorman and Linda Price PRETTIEST GIRL AND MOST HANDSOME BOY: Linda Larson and Ron Head

CUTEST COUPLE: Mike DoKuiper and Cindy Rober
MOST HELPFUL: Lee Doephouse and Marcia MocDonald
MOST ATHLETIC: Bill Bokkering and Karin DoKuiper

Football season ends at Orchard View with 12 players fighting for their last gridiron victory for the Packers. Kim Kenda and Jone Somers are selected as Mid Winter Festiva Queen candidates Bill Seasoning and Ron Head run for King. The final backering game in the Fremant gym is played on February 25, 1966. Mike DeKuiper, George Straven, Greg Graeme, Mike Zuchawski, and Bill Bekkering are introduced for the last time at home. The Seaway League crown is behind them; now the test of four years of predictions lies before them.

All that remains of significance is graduation. It is an end; the same 182 people, despits reunions and infrequent communications, will never be together again. Every senior class has paraded through the gym to the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance", but you feel that maybe this time it's a little different.

You remember the short, fat little kid in Miss Orr's class — he's marching ahead of you amazingly tall. You remember hating speech — now you're giving the Valedictory Address. You remember Dan Parker and Bill Hile — one of them sat next to you in English class. You remember playing Freshman basketball — now you're captain of the Varsity team. You remember how things were then, and how they are now. You remember Civics fading into World History; World History Into United States History; and United States History into Government and Sociology.

Maybe someday you'll find a use for a logarithm table, dissecting a frog. typing 60 words a minute, or reading MacBeth. Maybe all this education is for a purpose and someday you'll recognize it. Maybe someday it's all going to come back, along with intake memories, and mean something to you. Maybe this learning business has some depth to it. Maybe graduation for'll an end, but a beginning; maybe an entirely new world lies beyond June 1.

R Schurkamp prepares to make the final out for a Packer victory.

PACKERS WIN SEAWAY TITLE AND DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIP

The Fremont Packers had an impressive season posting a 12-2 record in Seaway League competition to win the conference championship. In non-league games during the regular season fremont defeated Big Rapids twice

The Packers defeated Coopersville 85-55 and Kenowa Hills 81-72 to win the District Championship at Sparta. The team then traveled to Calvin College for the Regional games but met defeat in a closely contested match against Grand Rapids South Christian 63-61. Both teams shared small leads throughout the game. With only seconds remaining on the clock Grand Rapids South sunk a basket to break a 61-61 tie

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS: SEATED: D. Broome, Vice President; J. Holl, President, STANDING, R. Head, Treasurer; B. Scott, Secretary.

The Student Council constantly strives to promote better student faculty relations, to give students an experience in governmenta activities, and to improve the general welfare of Fremant High School students. This year student government has accomplished many things. A student court was established, a pep club and sunshine committee were organized, Miss VanHorn was honored and the Council brought to the students a variety of dances featuring disc jackey Don Anderson, the Sheffields, a computer dance, and the Battle of Bands which was held at Midwinter Festival. To promote school spirit, a Unity Week was planned for the first home basketball game.
